Haroun and the Sea of Stories,

Salman Rushdie

ISBN -13: 978-0-14-036650-1

Join father and son--Rashid and Haroun--on a magical, fantastical journey as they discover the importance of story, whimsy, humor and the necessity these roles play in any world.

As you read, what role does storytelling play in this novel? Underline passages where storytelling plays a particularly significant role, and note what that significance is.

Think to your own life. What role has storytelling played in who you are and who you want to become? What parallels (similarities) or connections can you make between the storytelling journey of Rashid and Haroun? What differences? Mark passages that are especially indicative of these similarities and differences. Again, note what that similarity or difference is in the margin.
